The third night of the inter-fraternity fair at Howland hall this week was marked by fully as large attendance as on the preceding nights and served to show that the idea of varying the usual order of dances with a short but highly entertaining program is by no means unpopular with the crowd. And many who came only to witness the entertainers remained to watch the dancers. The fair last evening was in charge of the society of St. John the Baptist of America. Such well known local musicians as Mrs. E. W. Bruce and Mr. Beaupre, rendered solos, while Dr. F. M. Lynde contributed an excellent reading. In her violin solo, Mrs. Bruce was accompanied by Professor Hathaway of Montpelier seminary. Dancing with music by Riley's orchestra followed the program. The program for this evening will be given under the auspices of the Catholic Order of Foresters. The committee in charge promise a treat that will be lacking neither in merit nor variety.

Attention Condors.

Owing to the resignation of Financial Secretary A. M. Smith, through continued ill health, all members are requested to pay dues to the new secretary, David Stephen, 184 South Main street, or at the lodge meetings the first and third Thursday of every month.
